

SHOP GIRLS PRAISED BY FRENCH WOMAN

Mme. Joire, a Relative of Paquin, Says They Make Attractive Frocks.

WEAR THEM, TOO,
WITH HIGHEST SKILL

American Women, Says Expert on Dress, Carry Themselves
Better than Any Other.

Even home-made clothes cannot mar the beauty of the American woman, according to Mme. Henri Joire, who returned yesterday from her tour of the four cities which were deemed worthy of an exhibition of the one hundred Paquin gowns which were the occasion of her visit to America. She is a sister-in-law of Paquin and a member of the firm.

In Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Boston Mme. Joire said she had found beautiful women, as she expected, because, of course, everybody in Europe knows that American women are beautiful. She had not expected to find beauty so universal, however.

"I was especially impressed at seeing so many pretty girls," she said, "not only in society, but in the shops and in the streets. It is remarkable, too, how pretty the American girls make themselves on a comparatively small outlay of money. Many of them have the knack of making themselves look chic in a simple, inexpensive costume, made at home. Clothes do not make the woman. A shop girl in a simple frock who knows how to carry herself may make a better appearance than the woman in the Paris gown who has no style."

"So often have I wept to see one of our exquisite Paquin gowns utterly ruined by its wearer. Fashionable Americans, I am glad to say, do not transgress in this way. As a class American women know to carry themselves better than the women of any other country. I noticed especially in Chicago that the women wore their clothes better than the French women."

Mme. Joire says she likes America. She has had a fine time in the three weeks she has been travelling about. One night she had twenty invitations. Alas! With French diplomacy she refused them all and dined alone at her hotel.

Philadelphia, she says, was shocked by the "backless" gowns, but Pittsburgh liked them.

Mme. Joire will sail on Saturday. She hopes to come again to show this country to her little girl.

TRIANGLE MEMORY MARKED BY SAFETY

Anniversary of Disaster Shows
Decrease in Chance for Another Holocaust.

For the first time in the three years that have elapsed since the Triangle fire, which occurred March 25, 1911, the Committee on Safety announces that it feels able to report that the chances of the repetition of such a disaster have been decreased at least 25 per cent. Among the chief factors in the last year's improvement the committee finds the following:

Legislation recommended by the State Factory Investigating Commission has become law; protocol agreements in two of the most important trades have required rigid fire prevention; frequent inspection of buildings by the Bureau of Fire Prevention and the Fire Department; and the enactment of a workmen's compensation act.

The time since the disaster which cost the lives of 146 employees of the Triangle Waist Company has been marked by considerable losing litigation on the part of survivors and administrators of victims to obtain adequate damages from Max Blanck and Isaac Harris, proprietors of the company. Recently twenty-three cases were settled at the rate of $75 each. Both Harris and Blanck were indicted for manslaughter, April 11, 1911. December 14 of the same year they were placed on trial. Exactly two weeks later they were acquitted. Other indictments remained, but were later dismissed.

MISS MARTHA KLATSCHKEN AND THE SUFFRAGE BEAR

BEAR CARRIES SUFFRAGE FETE MESSAGE THROUGH THE CITY

Animal Will Invade Wall Street To-day and Distribute Tickets for Cosmopolitan Entertainment,
Which Is To Be Gay Affair.

BEAR IN MIND
THE COSMOPOLITAN FETE
AT THE 71ST REGIMENT ARMY.

This message was borne to the Fifth avenue crowds yesterday afternoon by Nicholas Drabynchukoffsky, the trained bear, and his keeper, Miss Martha Klatschken, in the costume of a Russian peasant girl.

The strange pair rode in an automobile and distributed handbills with the message, "Bear in mind," and the details of the votes for women fete which opens this afternoon in the army.

At noon to-day the bear will invade Wall Street. He has no designs on the market, however; all he wants is to sell tickets to the brokers.

Last night there was a dress rehearsal of the "cosmopolitans" and a parade around the armory in front of the little village, which were all easily decorated with paper flowers, suffrage flags and Chinese lanterns. Each borough of the Woman Suffrage party and several of the more energetic of the Assembly districts have taken villas representing some foreign country. The Manhattan Borough booth is Italian.

The Country Store was the scene of a near domestic tragedy. Mrs. Frederick Gillette, leader of the 14th Assembly District, which is in charge of this booth, thought it would be wise to sell salted peanuts among the many other commodities which comprise her stock in trade. With true suffrage optimism she ordered 125 pounds of nuts. When her cook heard about them she left.

Mrs. Gillette assured the woman that she wouldn't be asked to crack and salt all those nuts herself, so the cook decided to think it over. Mrs. Gillette portioned the peanuts out in five-quart bags throughout the length and breadth of her district.

Saturday the returns began to come in. Old men and maids, boys, chauffeurs and housewives came tramping to Mrs. Gillette's door, each with his offering of peanuts, salted. But alas, for suffrage cooks. Half of the returns had to be thrown out as they were not properly done.

Mary Powers, the cook, looked at the mountains of ill done peanuts and this time she was sure she was going to leave.

But Mrs. Gillette bribed her back into good nature by giving her permission to send into the cooking contest a loaf of bread of her own making. The prize for bread is a gorgeous silver candlestick with a yellow shade. If Mary Powers's bread doesn't win the prize the judges will hear from Mrs. Gillette.

There will be cooking contests every day, with silver prizes. "Colonel" Ida Craft will make "General Jones" cookies, which will be auctioned off to-morrow.

One of the recent additions to the menagerie of the fete is a sacred dog from China. He was given by Warner Van Norden to the 26th Assembly District, which has the Chinese booth. His name is Vo Tes for Wom En and he is the God of Votes for They Ought To Be. It cost 10 cents to burn a yellow joss stick at his shrine.

Mrs. Alfred J. Eno, chairman of the Borough of Queens, who is in charge of the dancing, announced yesterday that she would charge 25 cents an introduction. Any good-looking man who can secure an introduction to her through usual means will be allowed to take his choice of the pretty girls on the floor and on payment of the quarter will be escorted to her and introduced. After that he can have as many dances as the girl says for only 10 cents each.

Women suffragists—or at least those who are represented by the Congressional Union—are much elated this evening by the assertion of Senator Thomas, chairman of the Committee on Woman Suffrage, that the Bristow amendment will be favorably reported by his committee and without further hearings.

Senator Thomas is quoted as saying: "The Bristow amendment is identical with that recently considered and is in my judgment the only one to be reported favorably to the Senate. It cannot be improved upon either in phraseology or in purpose."

The Congressional Committee of the National Suffrage Association is still urging the adoption of the Shafer amendment.

Exhibit Designs by Children.

An exhibition of work in design by the children of the social settlements of Boston was placed on view yesterday in the classroom of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and will continue to April 9. The work was prepared under the instruction of Miss Deborah Kallen. Among the settlements represented are Lincoln House, the Riverside Street Neighborhood House, Moore Street Neighborhood House, South End House and the Social Union of Cambridge.

WOMEN ONCE MORE APPEAL TO HOUSE

Make Final Fight at This Session to Force Action on Suffrage Measure.

Washington, March 24.—Undaunted by their recent defeat in the Senate, woman suffrage advocates besieged another House committee to-day, demanding at least a partial recognition of their right to the ballot. It is the final fight of the suffragists to force action at this session of Congress.

The feminine pleaders appeared to-day in support of the French bill to permit women to vote in elections for Senators and Representatives. The Committee on Election of President, Vice-President and Representatives in Congress, with patience as long as its name, listened to the suffragists' arguments, but gave no assurance of action. As usual, the "antis" were on hand to combat every argument advanced by advocates of "the cause."

The Rev. Mrs. Olympia Browne, of Racine, Wis., president of the Federal Suffrage Association, headed the suffragists, and the "antis" were under the leadership of Miss Minnie Bronson, secretary of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, and Miss Lucy Price, of the District of Columbia branch of the anti-suffragists.

Woman suffragists—or at least those who are represented by the Congressional Union—are much elated this evening by the assertion of Senator Thomas, chairman of the Committee on Woman Suffrage, that the Bristow amendment will be favorably reported by his committee and without further hearings.

Senator Thomas is quoted as saying: "The Bristow amendment is identical with that recently considered and is in my judgment the only one to be reported favorably to the Senate. It cannot be improved upon either in phraseology or in purpose."

GIRL STRIKER ARRESTED
Leader in Fight at Garment Factory—Peace Plan Fails.

A proposition submitted on behalf of the Independent Children's Dress Manufacturers' Association yesterday at a conference with a committee from the union at the instigation of the State Board of Mediation, with a view to ending the children's dressmakers' strike, was rejected by the strikers. The workers demanded an increase in wages of $1.00 a week.

As a result of strike disturbances yesterday in Williamsburg two men are in the hospital. Both were employed in the garment factory of Samuel Kallish, No. 435 Broadway.

Lena Markowitz, nineteen years old, of No. 336 Park avenue, was held for Special Sessions for aiding the strikers in an attack on the employees at the factory of Henry and Louis Krumhold, No. 153 Rocking street, in which several women took part. Three others were arrested.

Church Orders All to Rewed.

[By Telegram to This Tribune.] Bridgeport, Conn., March 24.—Although they were married six years ago in Millbury, N. C., Robert Reynolds and Nellie Mumford applied here to-day for a license to be married again.

According to Reynolds, the head of the Church of God and Saints of Christ, which sect they recently joined, has ordered all members to remarry. Those who have been divorced are ordered to return to their first mates.

Women Boost Chicago's Vote.

Chicago, March 24.—Chicago has a voting population of 471,514, exceeding that of New York by 2,152, according to the official revision to-day of registration figures. Of those who registered more than 200,000 were women.

CO-OPERATION TO SAVE EVERY FAMILY $100 A YEAR ON FOOD

Experts in Central Office to Buy and Distribute Supplies, Eliminating Middleman's Profit.

Washington, March 24.—A saving of $100 a year to every family in the United States in the purchase of food supplies is the aim of a movement launched here to-day at a meeting of the National Co-operative Food Committee, which has its temporary headquarters at No. 2619 Broadway, New York City.

Mrs. Ellis Logan, president of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, presided at the meeting. D. C. Imboden, of New York, presented the general outline of the plan.

"It is a definite nation-wide philanthropic co-operative plan for the most economical distribution of food supplies throughout the country, direct from the producer to the consumer with only one handling and for the assurance of purity," he said.

"The maximum nutritive value of food is attained at the point of production in the bulk. The next point of value is on the table. All intermediate expense falls on the producer and the consumer, without adding 2 cents' worth to actual values. It is proposed to eliminate 50 to 60 per cent of the present, or the unnecessary, intermediate expense.

"This saving will amount to about 25 per cent of the present retail prices, or $100 yearly for the average family in the cost of food supplies delivered to the home. All that a family will have to pay for this saving and the assurance of purity will be $1 for a membership card. The money will be used for organizing expenses and for maintaining central handling stations. The goods are to be sold at carlot cost prices delivered to the city terminals, plus the necessary one handling expense for passing them through the central station and delivering to the homes.
